Seven years ago, after working for twelve years in sales, Jason Jolly took up a window cleaning round. Little did he know at the time, that this would grow and blossom into the domestic and commercial cleaning powerhouse that is 'Gleaming Group', a local family run business that uses only the finest quality cleaning products.

The commercial cleaning side of his business is well known throughout the country and is ever growing through reputation and word of mouth, but I'm here to tell you about the domestic side of his business and the high quality services available to you the readers.

(Before)

First a quick background check. It was whilst cleaning windows that Jason was often asked by various customers if he could also clean their gutters, fascias and even conservatories. He has never looked back; his line of thinking now is 'if it can be cleaned, I will clean it'.

His next venture was oven cleaning and it remains to this day, a major part of his business. He has cleaned our oven and our gutters, and I can tell you now that the man is a perfectionist. This high standard and work ethic is instilled into his staff, all of which have their own fully kitted out vans.
